Recovery by 7-year-old called 'miracle'

By VALERIE EVENDEN
Press-Record Staff Writer

Sixteen days after an excited 7-year-old Gary Steven King moved to Texas with his family, the small Granite City boy was back home again, this time in the Intensive Care Unit of a Houston hospital with massive injuries—the victim of a traffic accident.

Gary was struck by an auto operated by a man who was the child who returned to his new home from a nearby confectionery store.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Gary King who live in the 2800 block of Iowa Street until February.

Gary spent 10 weeks at Houston's Ben Taub County Hospital last year, a period of doctors worked feverishly for many days in an uphill battle to save his life. The physicians who treated the boy claimed "miracles."

Gary was born in Granite City and attended Niedringhaus Grade School prior to his father being assigned by Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. to the Metro-Houston area on a temporary "loan" basis.

The senior King is one of 699 borrowed telephone workers sent to Houston to help with a large-scale service improvement program taking place in that region. The family scheduled to return here in August.

In the accident Gary sustained extensive damage to the liver, a brain concussion, a broken leg, several rib fractures and a severed vena cava, the large vein that connects the heart to the lungs. His abdominal organs, located below the diaphragm.

On the first night of the accident Gary required a total of 28 pints of whole blood, and for many weeks he remained in critical condition.

"Everyone rallied around to help the family and 58 Southwestern Bell employees served as voluntary blood donors," according to Mrs. Harold Cox, 3017 Marshall Ave., the child's maternal grandmother.

During the King's ordeal, several local residents traveled to Houston to offer their comfort and aid, including the Rev.

Kenneth V. Reeves, pastor of the Pontoon United Pentecostal Church, a good friend of the Cox family.

Mrs. Cox only recently returned to Granite City after spending 10 weeks with her son-in-law and daughter and grandchildren. The Kings have two daughters, Beth Ann, 4 years, and Kathy Lynn, 2, in addition to Gary.

King's fellow workers at the Orchard Exchange and at a temporary work center at the Helena Motel in Houston provided food and donated money for a portable television to make the Gary's stay in the hospital more comfortable, once he began to recuperate.

Mrs. Cox said, "From the time of the accident we received more help from telephone people in Southwestern Bell and other companies than anyone could ever expect."

"Granite is a giant city compared to Granite City, but the people here have made us feel at home with their thoughtfulness. I thought we would miss the quietness of a small town," she added.

"I would like to thank everyone, especially those employees who stepped forward to donate blood and the team of doctors who kept a constant watch over Gary," the mother said.

Gary is now convalescing at his home, returning to handle chores and other such week returns to see the surgeons at the hospital.

He also is catching up with his school work as the school district, which he now lives recently assigned a homebound teacher to help him, his grandmother reported.

Plan to amend new levee bill

A bill that would provide for replacement of the present East St. Louis Levee and Sanitary district with a different system was recommended for passage by the Illinois House of counties and townships committee at Springfield last week, following a long-term committee hearing in which Granite City Mayor Paul Schuler urged amendment of the method of selecting board trustees of any new district.

Schuler, who testified at the committee hearing in support of the levee bill with exception of the method of selecting levee board members by appointment by the chairman of the county boards of Madison and St. Clair counties, Schuler told committee members levee board trustees should be elected to give proper representation to the voters in which any newly established district would be located.

Schuler told the Press-Record following the hearing that State Rep. Horace Calvo (D-Granite City) "assured me that an amendment of that phase of the bill will be offered when the measure comes before the House for consideration."

The hearing was attended by city and county officials from Madison and St. Clair Counties, including Mayor Robert Jackson of Cahokia, Mayor Ernest Smith of Cen-treville and Mayor Curtis of Alorton.

Witnesses presented statements in which they were critical of the present levee district system and operation, and in which they supported adoption of the bill.

The bill was introduced by Rep. Monroe Flinn (D-Cahokia) would allow voters of the present district, made up of parts of Madison and St. Clair counties, to petition for a referendum on whether they wish to abolish the present levee district system and replace it with a different system.

Flinn's bill provides for administration of a new district by a five-man board whose members would be appointed by the chairman of the Madison and St. Clair County Boards. The commissioners would be required under the legislation to name a professional engineer to serve as executive director of the district.

Schuler said he told the committee that the levee district as it now constituted spend a far greater portion of its budget on maintenance.

Madison County residents of the district (the Quad-City area) pay approximately half, and sometimes more, of the tax bill.

The mayor told the committee that during the 1973 year portion of the Madison County portion of the district paid more taxes into the district than did St. Clair county, but the county was paying in that county was $6,733, compared to a payroll of $19,403 in Madison County.

Chairman of the levee district board, also testifying in support of the bill, in opening argument in favor of the bill, the House committee voted 15 members in favor of the bill, with one voting present. There were no negative votes. The bill now will go to the House for amendments and a House vote.

Thirty-five jobs are to be provided for disadvantaged youths and will pay $2 per hour, with the youngsters working 40 hours per week at tasks ranging from grass cutting and general maintenance to typing and filing.

Jim Bowman, ISES manager representative, went to register the students—22 from each city—so that loss of class time was limited to 15 minutes per student.

"By opening the ISES office for these students today, which is officially half open for students and state employees, we are able to minimize disruption of our program," Bowman said.

"Counselors at all four high schools did a fine job in identifying students eligible for the program, made interviewing facilities available, and handled the scheduling of the students so well that initial registration was accomplished smoothly and quickly."

Several students, whose school closing date was delayed by the teacher strike, will begin their work with AVSCOM June 17 and thus suffer no disadvantage in competing for the summer jobs," Bowman said. "Students from schools closing earlier may be processed at AVSCOM about a week earlier."

"High school and college students seeking summer employment and not already registered this year may call 876-2383, Bowman said, and ask for an appointment. Employers who can provide summer work for young people also are being encouraged to contact the ISES."

International festival here

The first International Festival, sponsored by the Down Town Granite City Chamber of Commerce, will be held from 10 a.m. to 8 p.m. Saturday, featuring exotic foods, native costumes and music from many foreign countries, according to the promotion chairman, Earl Harris.

Booths will be set up for serving foods displaying artifacts, ceramics and gift items that will be for sale to the public.

The area on 19th Street from Cleveland Boulevard to Delmar Avenue will be closed for the one-day event. Festival activities also will take place in the park area of Niedringhaus Boulevard and Cleveland Boulevard.

A variety of music will be played during the day and evening for entertaining groups and for those who wish to participate in street parties.

Organizations taking part in the initial effort include St. Gregory Armenian Youth Mexican Honorary Commission, United Nations Food, Daughters of Penelope, Mexican American Cultural Commission, Slavic Serenaders and Mexican American Folk Dancers of Metro East.

Watergate making candidates cautious in Illinois campaign

By KEN WATSON
Press-Record
Springfield Bureau

Watergate is already having one direct surprising and welcome effect on the 1974 Illinois election campaign.

It is limiting the careers of some candidates because of the climate of Watergate. Rarely has an election year been greeted with such general indifference, if not boredom.

Many legislative candidates confess privately that the smartest thing any office-seeker, and especially a candidate, can do in 1974 is to maintain a low profile, keeping himself as inconspicuous as possible.

This year may see less handshaking, back-slapping and public appearances by politicians than at any time in the history of Illinois.

Even though impeached by the House, his conviction is far from certain.

There is also the possibility that he could emerge from the whole affair as a martyred President or even one completely exonerated.

Few candidates running for office in 1974 want to commit himself this far in advance. This is especially true as far as Congressional races are concerned.

Candidates for office this year will be aware of the low regard in which the American voters hold most politicians because of the climate of Watergate. Rarely has an election year been greeted with such general indifference, if not boredom.

Many legislative candidates confess privately that the smartest thing any office-seeker, and especially a candidate, can do in 1974 is to maintain a low profile, keeping himself as inconspicuous as possible.

This year may see less handshaking, back-slapping and public appearances by politicians than at any time in the history of Illinois.

To win this year, it is said, a candidate will have to prove himself more of a "non-politician" than his opponent.

For candidates running for office in 1974, the climate of Watergate is a concern.

Equally important, candidates shall not be denied or abridged by the United States, or any state, on account of sex.

"That's all the Equal Rights Amendment to the U.S. Constitution says," she explained. "The Equal Rights Amendment says women will be drafted, deprived of support, and forced to seek employment outside the home."

Miss Poag, state legislation chairman for Business and Professional Women, said the ERA Center, an information center in Chicago, Miss Poag said in an interview that the demonstrators, the hysterics and the political opportunists are at it again.

"They're trying to scare women from achieving, at long last, equal protection under the law," she said.

"These confused women fear ERA will destroy the American family, legalize rape, send mothers into prostitution, force single-parent families to live in unclean bathrooms, and force contented housewives into jobs they don't want."

"None of the above is true," she said. "Women are as safe as ever, partly as a result of such social tactics, the ratification of ERA, which had seemed a sure thing in 1972, slowed down in 1973."

She explained a total of 38 states must ratify ERA before it becomes the 27th Amendment to the Constitution.

Thirty-three states now have approved it.

"Why is this amendment necessary?" Miss Poag was asked.

She said with the exception of the 19th Amendment, which gave women the voting rights, there is in the U.S. Constitution no reference to rights of women.

Rights Act of 1964, but each state has to be tested in a court of law individually. The ERA would make this procedure unnecessary, she emphasized.

"What are some of the injustices now being perpetrated which would be corrected under ERA?" she was asked.

"Forty-two states (including Illinois) do not have community property laws, which give men more rights than women in the household. If the husband dies, the woman is then responsible for all debt and inheritance taxes."

"In many states, women cannot serve on juries.

"In other states, women are required to register for jury duty if they wish to serve.

"Only in about the last 10 years have women been permitted to serve on federal juries."

"Women in some states cannot serve as an administrator of an estate."

They are plenty of pennies. But they are in the wrong places.

"Nevertheless, speculators and hoarders of pennies have been in the wrong places.

"It is estimated that over 30 billion pennies are in circulation.

"Pennies are not a good investment for the average investor," Mrs. Brooks related.

"But there is no shortage of supply of pennies."

"Creating a shortage where it does not exist can adversely affect every public-spirited citizen, taxpayer and conservator of the earth's pocket and out of sight. They are unused and appreciated."

"For the Mint to be forced to continue increasing its penny production to meet the current extraordinary demand is wasteful of a natural resource, copper, that cannot be replenished by man."

"And it is wasteful of the taxpayers' hard-earned money.

"One billion pennies returned to circulation would save the taxpayer $10,000,000."

"The current price and supply of copper allows us to

Madison school Nazarenes to occupy new church

A resolution requesting that the Illinois General Assembly and Gov. Dan Walker restore full funding to public schools in the state was adopted by the Madison Board of Education during a special meeting Tuesday night.

The board unanimously approved the uniform resolution prepared by the Illinois Committee for Full Funding, a group of parents, teachers and administrators from throughout the state.

The committee estimates the schools in the state will lose about $70 million by the state withholding a portion of the money allocated to the school unit through the education unit fund formula.

The board opened bids from 11 companies for more than 30 custodial and maintenance supply items and requested that the administration tabulate the bids and submit them to the board for consideration at the next meeting.

Only one bid was received for school bus transportation, from School Bus Transportation, Inc., the company now providing service to the public schools in the Quad-City area.

The three-year proposal called for an increase in the basic daily fare and the board voted to accept the bid until it could be determined if other companies would agree to submit proposals.

The board discussed personnel matters and adjourned without taking any action on that subject.

The Rev. Herbert Merritt, pastor, announced this week the sale of the present church building of the First Church of the Nazarene, 2400 East 25th St. to the Bethel Temple Pentecostal Church.

Both congregations will move to the newly acquired buildings during the weekend.

The building being vacated by the Nazarenes was built in 1943 under the leadership of the Rev. W. P. Wolpe, and has housed the congregation for almost 30 years. An addition to the education unit was built in 1956.

The new building is being completed by the Ed Morris Construction Co. and located on State Street, one-half mile north of Pontoon Road. It is of brick and block construction with floor space of 11,000 square feet, and parking for 120 cars.

The lower story includes a modern Sunday School department, and the upper story includes offices, nursery and 4,000 square foot fellowship room, which will be used for worship until a future sanctuary is built.

First services in the newly erected church will be Sunday School at 9:30 a.m., Sunday, with worship services to follow at 10:30 a.m. Evening services will begin at 7 p.m., the Rev. Merritt reported.

Boy, 7, injured

Seven-year-old Kelly Lewis of 2820 Emzee St. was injured when the motorcycle he was riding was struck by the auto of David Gilmore, 2749 Roosevelt Ave., in the 2800 block of Roosevelt Avenue at 7 p.m. Tuesday.

The auto was eastbound and witness said the boy came northbound into the street from between two parked cars. Gilmore said he was unable to stop his auto before striking the boy.

The youngster was taken by ambulance to St. Elizabeth Hospital where he was treated for abrasions and contusions to his left leg and both knees. X-rays were taken of his chest and left leg and he was admitted.

Indian research at Blue Waters drainage ditch

Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville has received authorization for a continuing grant to conduct archeological research in the Blue Waters Ditch area near Cahokia before prehistoric sites are destroyed by a U.S. Army Corps of Engineers internal drainage system project.

The grant, provided by the National Park Service of the U.S. Department of the Interior, will cover research work from June 17 to Sept. 1, with payment not to exceed $8,000. SIUE will supply personnel, facilities, supplies and materials to conduct archeological salvage investigations, including photography, mapping, controlled surface collecting, test excavations and extensive excavations.

Sidney G. Denny, assistant professor of anthropology, said the archeological salvage work started last year when it was learned that several known prehistoric sites in the area would be eliminated by a drainage system project in the American Bottoms region near Cahokia.

Denny said the sites date back as far as the late Woodland (700 to 800 A.D.) culture, immediately preceding the expansion of the Mississippi culture (900-1250 A.D.).

Specific sites to be investigated this summer include Lily Lake No. 1 Site and Lily Lake No. 2 Site. The locations are 10 miles north of Dupo, east of the French village of Canokia.

The archeological field of work will be supervised by Terry Norris of St. Louis, a graduate student at SIUE. He will be assisted by Meyer, a Bellville teacher doing graduate work at SIUE, and two other SIUE graduate students, Neal Lopinot of Edwardsville and Jim Slaughter of Mattoon. Employees of the National Park Service are expected to be assigned to the project for field training purposes.

State vehicle radios target of theft wave

Investigations have been stepped up to recover more than $85,000 worth of state communications equipment stolen from vehicles since April 14 from vehicles, according to Roland Burns, director of the state Department of General Services.

"The theft of radio equipment from vehicles has become a big business." In addition to the state's loss, more than $1 million has been stolen from private industry in Illinois in the last year," he added.

The Madison County Republican Central Committee will meet soon to choose a candidate for county treasurer. The March nominee, Mrs. Carol Frederick, an Illinois Education Association coordinator, has withdrawn due to "personal priorities."

Illinois to study Oregon ban on no-deposit bottles, cans

Final consideration of the controversial proposal to require a cash deposit on all beverage containers in Illinois apparently will be delayed for at least another month.

The newest twist will be an ongoing comprehensive report from a committee of the legislature on the Oregon program had been in operation a year, and evaluated.

Larry Hardin, of the Division of Solid Waste Management for the state Institute for Environmental Quality, said that while initial reports indicate the program has been a success in Oregon—it is gone in Illinois—further support of it—there are big and significant differences between the two states which will affect any decision in Illinois.

Under the projected plan, even a bottle containing alcoholic beverages or soft drinks sold in Illinois would require a first-cash deposit.

In Illinois, there are 20,000 persons working either in industries producing glass containers or filling them.

The industries, and the 20,000 workers themselves, pay income and other taxes which affect the state's economy.

Oregon's interest in doing away with throw-away containers has been chiefly in the aesthetic area of reducing litter in a state which is primarily recreation and tourist-oriented.

Any consideration in Illinois will have to concern, as well, the economic impact on canners, bottlers, retailers, wholesalers, consumers and the general public.

So far, no date in July has been set for a new PCB hearing.

When it is held, the board will have several options: keep the whole problem back on the shelf; revamp the existing proposal extensively; or make some modifications based on the new hearing testimony and position of the new committee.

In the latter case, barring almost inevitable court intervention by objectors, the new ruling would become effective within a month of publication.

No matter what course is adopted, Hardin agreed, highly unlikely any action will affect the career of the ubiquitous beer bottle and soda can during the 1974 recreation season.

Gov. Walker sees setback for independent candidates

Gov. Dan Walker this week sharply criticized the Illinois election board.

He commented, "Friday was the first time the state Board of Elections had the opportunity to prove it is a truly independent body. The members proved themselves rubber stamp for part control of the election process."

"Their action Friday was an outrageous move."

Walker threw three successful independent candidates to the wolves.

"That was the effect of their decision to give legislative district committee the job of picking candidates, instead of if the committee feel the candidates haven't qualified," the governor said.

"By giving the power to pick someone off the ballot to party committees, the state Board of Education is saying, 'If your candidate suits you, keep him on the ballot; if not like the candidate who won the primary, kick him off.'

The board demonstrated exactly what my objections were when I tried to amend the bill establishing the new board. I said, then that, unless corrected, such a board would ignore the interests of independents."

"I said then that such a board would go along with party leaders on every controversy. That is why I sent the bill back to the legislature to be corrected."

The General Assembly rejected those improvements and established the board over my objection.

"Now we see the results: a board that will throw its lot every time with the side of independents will be kicked off the ballot and machine candidates of either party will be kept on."

The Board of Elections is staying in effect that the party chiefs can make the decision on whether the winner of a primary should be on the ballot.

Youth overcome

A Granite City youth was found at 7:45 p.m. Tuesday in his apartment at 1500 block of W. Third Street with his head in the oven of his gas stove which was turned on but not ignited.

The 19-year-old was in satisfactory condition today at St. Elizabeth Hospital, it was reported.

When the fire department sent a pump and an inhalator truck to the apartment where mouth-to-mouth resuscitation was given to the youth by a firefighter until he could be brought outside and the inhalator used.

Firemen reported that when they entered the apartment, they found him lying on the top of his bed in the oven in the center of the room. The stove had tipped over on him, it was related.

Couple hurt by 2 teens

Ed Rudolph, 2028 rear Washington Ave., and his wife were hurt after Rudolph attempted to stop two boys from stealing gasoline from a neighbor's auto at 2:25 a.m. Wednesday.

Rudolph said he saw the boys at a neighbor's auto and went outside to stop them. He said as he approached, one of the boys dashed toward him and another boy struck Rudolph on the face.

Rudolph returned to his apartment and the boys followed, he related, one of them kicking open the door, which struck Mrs. Rudolph's head.

The boy who struck Rudolph talked the other boy into leaving the home moments after they entered, the victim said.

Police said the boy fled and TROJAN SPORTS BANQUET. Guest speaker Randy Albrecht, St. Louis University basketball coach, tells 100 Madison High School sports fans and athletes that "records were made to be broken. So carry your determination to win, and set new marks in the upcoming seasons." The dinner honored athletes in six sports — football, cross-country, basketball, track, tennis and baseball. With him at the guest table, from left, are School Board Member Donald Boyer, MHS Principal Richard Brown, Trojan Football Coach Al Vonder Haar, Albrecht and Wade James, assistant superintendent of schools.

Madison High athletes in six sports honored

St. Louis University basketball coach Randy Albrecht, speaking before 100 Madison High School sports fans during a banquet Monday in the school's cafeteria, told Trojan athletes, "If you have a chance, join a sports team during the summer, take it."

"Pass your skills on to the youngsters in this community who can use what you have to offer."

Albrecht's advice reached the basket ball, cross-country, basketball, track, tennis, and baseball players who gathered to be honored for accomplishments in their sports.

"One of the values of competition is learning sportsmanship and fairness. Carry those values with you into your adult life."

Among those introduced by W.A. Eaves, assistant superintendent of schools, were Madison School Board Members Frank Eaves, Donald Boyer, Chester McManaway and Talmadge Fisk, Sup't. John Palchetti, and MHS Principal Richard Brown.

Each of the six sports was represented by its coach — Al Vonder Haar, football; Larry Graham, cross-country and basketball; Jim Kostelnik, tennis; and Ron Davis, baseball.

Vonder Haar said before presenting school letters, "Let's forget last year and look toward the future. We're going to be improving schedule for the upcoming season and will be playing schools more our size."

Receiving letter awards in football were James Turner, Ivan Simms, Orlando Johnson, Silver, Darryl Franklin, Emmett Timmons, Leroy Booker, Willie Sheary, Joe Young, Coy Jackson, and Chris Stanley.

Cross-country athletes who received school letters were Jon Henke, Rudolph Bradley, Darryl Franklin, Eddie Stevenson, Tim Fisk, Mike Turner, Jones and Kevin Dilte.

Those honored by Coach Graham for basketball were Mike Walker, Kelvin Boyd, Ron Glasper, Jon Henke, Stanley, Alvin Wigfall, Darrell Franklin, Bradley, Whitecotton and Ron Jones.

Graham cited Jones as a bright prospect for the next season. "He should average 15 points per game for us."

Stanley was honored for the squad's leading rebounder, and the most valuable player award was presented to Ron Glasper.

Coach Davis added humor to the banquet by chiding, "Our baseball team has got to get off the field and play ball."

Davis cited the team's only senior, Henke, as the pitcher with the most wins, 6-1, and junior Algie Crawford for having the most home runs and hits.

Cedric Wilson was honored for leading the team in batting with his .340 average.

Lettering also in baseball were Steve McCumber, Ken Werner, Jim Williams, Tim Fisk, Mike Turner, Jones and Kevin Dilte.

Even though the tennis squad lost all meets this season, Coach Kostelnik pointed out that they improved over the opening meet.

"Most of them had never played high school tennis before and with the experience they have now — we are looking toward a much better season."

Graham cited Jones as a bright prospect for the next season. "He should average 15 points per game for us."

"So, don't let your sport activities stop here. Don't let your courage and sport smanship stop here. Carry all of it into your future, wherever that may be."

Next year ...

Tennis letter award recipients were Louis Wilson McCaskill, Jeff Urioste, Patrick Winston, Mike Woods Wendell McCaskill and Rick Walker.

Coach Steppie complimented 100-yard dash man Kelvin Boyd and the 440-yard relay squad of Chris Stanley, Young, Lamont Garrett and Boyd for their efforts in the state track meet last weekend.

Before presenting 20 track letters — to Carl Bandy, Boyd Jay Busch, Alfred Crawford, Garrett, Tom Harris, Osborn, Lomax, Dave Martin, Bill Ragsdale, Eddie Rossey, Ivan Stevenson, James Turner, Chris Stanley, James Redman, Mike Walker, Rodney Walker, Wiggin, Young and Mike Terrell — the coach mentioned the athletes: "Life is just starting for all of you."

"So, don't let your sport activities stop here. Don't let your courage and sport smanship stop here. Carry all of it into your future, wherever that may be."

ALL-STAR TROJAN ATHLETES Chris Stanley, left, and Cedric Wilson were among those honored during the school's sports banquet held in the cafeteria. Stanley, a senior, received school letter awards in football, track and basketball. He was cited as the grid team's second leading rusher, with 246 yards, and the basketball squad's leading rebounder and as a member of the school's state track relay squad. Wilson, a junior, lettered in football and baseball. He received an award as the Trojan's leading batter with a season average of .340.

ERA

— Women in Georgia are considered personal property of the husband. In addition female veterans do not receive the same rights as those of male veterans.

— Women veterans do not receive the same benefits under the GI Bill as do male veterans.

Many laws set forth harsher punishment for crimes by women offenders than for the same crime for male offenders. Some colleges and professions require higher admission standards for women than men.

— Arizona law requires that the governor, secretary of state and attorney be male. In only four states (California, Idaho, Texas and Washington) do women have the legal right to control their own earnings.

— ERA will improve the quality of life for families. Men, as well as women, will gain under the Equal Rights Amendment, as real progress is made toward true human rights for all, regardless of sex," Miss Poag stressed. "What benefits will men receive?" she was asked.

— Protective labor laws, if they are really protective, will also apply to men. Many of these are nowлагous to no existing women.

— Early retirement rights under Social Security laws will apply to men.

— Adoption, child support, child custody laws will apply equally to men and women.

— The husband as a surviving spouse will receive the same benefits under the Illinois Teachers Retirement System as the woman was the contributor. At present the reverse is true.

"What won't the ERA do?"

"It will not invade anyone's personal privacy, it will not affect the way of life of any man who chooses not to accept any of these benefits," Miss Poag emphasized.

She said the argument that ERA gives Congress the power to make laws that are completely false since Congress already has that power.

"We now have a volunteer Army, and no one, male or female is being drafted," she pointed out, adding if there were another draft, all women would not be required to serve, just as all men have not been required to serve.

"Opponents to ERA say personal privacy is an amendment means men won't have to be responsible for the support of their families, that alimony will be abolished, and women will be forced out of their homes to live in military barracks."

"This charge also is false," Miss Poag said, explaining the right to support of women and children is much more limited than is generally known.

She said courts do not interfere with ongoing marriages. However, in the event of separation or dissolution of a marriage, many states already assess the child support of the non-custodial husband, wife, or both, depending upon the best welfare of the children.

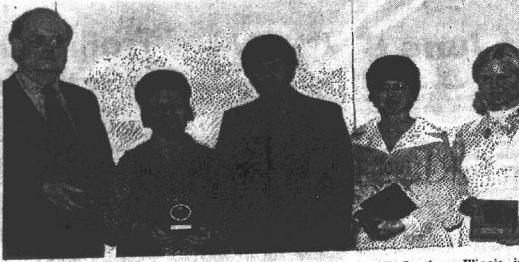

Child custody would be awarded to the parent who can better care for the child in the best interest of the child. Under ERA each case will be decided on its own merits, emphasizing the needs and welfare of the children, and not the sex of the parents.

Price seeks clear policy on aviation system needs

Congressman Melvin Price (Dem., 23rd-Ill.) has voiced criticism of a Department of Transportation policy statement which he feels may be too general and pending application for a new Columbia-Watertown airport.

A department report, dated May 1974, stated that the proposed expansion of the aviation system is generally adequate, and that the department expects "few, if any, major additions" to the nation's airport capacity (in the sense of new airports) during the next decade.

The congressman has requested that Secretary of Transportation Claude Bringer clarify the department's position on the Columbia-Watertown, Ill., application and reconcile his statement with the fact that the application is still under review.

Rep. Price also requested here to be landed in the Transportation appropriation bill urging the department to expedite a decision on the application for the Columbia-Watertown airport.

On the floor of the House, Rep. Price spoke in favor of a $9 billion authorization for defense research and development.

Chairman of the House Armed Services Subcommittee on Research and Development, called the authorization "essential for our national defense."

Rep. Price's subcommittee conducted extensive hearings on the programs to be authorized.

"During the hearings," he said, "the committee assessed the requirement or need for each weapon system development program, progress of the Department of Defense course of action, and the possibility of using lower cost alternatives."

Rep. Price said, "We must continue and intensify our efforts to reduce proliferation."

Price called for immediate Congressional action on a bill to increase and extend GI education benefits after May 31.

The delay in passage has resulted from a failure to resolve differences in the House and Senate versions of the measure.

The congressman, a staunch supporter of the bill, said the stalemate has left thousands of veterans in an uncertain position.

"They do not know whether to register for school, because there is no assurance that GI benefits will be forthcoming," he said.

"This bill passed the House three months ago."

"There is no excuse for this kind of delay when veterans are relying on quick action," he said. "I am optimistic that this situation is reaching the crisis stage at the time of Memorial Day — a time when our veterans are supposed to be honored and remembered."

"The bill should be considered at the earliest possible date and certainly before the May 31 cutoff."

The bill would extend the eligibility period for GI benefits from 10 years to 15 years and increase educational benefits by 13.6 per cent.

Cong. Price, chairman of the Joint Committee on Atomic Energy, has expressed concern over India's development of a nuclear weapon device.

Although the Indian government says it intends to use nuclear technology only for peaceful purposes such as medicine, Price said the congressional note that "there is no significant difference between a basic device for peaceful purposes and a basic atomic weapon."

"Fundamentally, I believe the situation is a setback to our nuclear weapons non-proliferation course and, therefore, an unfortunate sex.

The fact of the matter is that the ERA is good for both men and women," she emphasized.

"But it is essential for women, even as the U.S. Constitution now stands, the only legal right women are guaranteed is the right to vote."

The Granite City Rotary club at a meeting yesterday noon in the YMCA approved a motion "to promote civic pride" by placing a float about Granite City in the annual state fair parade Aug. 9, in Springfield.

The club approached the president of the YMCA toward cost of the float and will invite other local service clubs to join in the project, according to Joseph Hassler, president.

Miss Cindy Welch, a drug counselor from Collinsville, was guest speaker.

She said people take drugs basically "because they want to" and have a poor self-image.

Fear is not a deterrent and people could be more than one day and it would not stop the drug problem; it's a way to make money and for every pusher arrested there is always someone to take over, Miss Welch said.

The addition of a sixth nuclear power, he said, "is bound to have stabilizing effects in the field of international relations."

The price of vehicle licenses in the city of Venice will increase after June 15 from $3 to $5, according to Chief of Police Ralph D. Brawley. In addition to the $2 penalty amount, failing to purchase a vehicle license also is subject to a fine and a fine.

Brawley said the City Council at its meeting Tuesday night instructed the chief to begin a "crack down" on persons failing to obtain the license to be displayed on vehicles.

"Licenses were due May 1, but the council wanted to give the residents every chance to purchase them without penalty," Brawley said.

Nameoki budget raised

The Nameoki Township Board of Auditors Monday night approved a $116,456 town fund budget, $10,250 higher than the tentative town fund budget of $106,206 which had been posted for public review.

During a public hearing on the tentative budget, the amounts in 10 categories were increased and a new item was added.

A proposed cut in the travel expenses of Township Supervisor Louis Whitstell from $10,000 to $6,000 was criticized by township residents who said when the highway commissioner's travel expenses were cut, he was compensated by use of a township truck.

The board considered the public statements and voted to retain Whitstell's advance to $10,000 for the fiscal year.

The amount budgeted for custodial services was increased from $350 to $500, engineering services appropriation was up from $2,500 to $4,200, the amount for bonding of township officials was increased from $700 to $1,000, the appropriation for equipment purchases was amended upwards from $1,500 to $2,200 and the amount for the town inspector was increased from $2,400 to $3,400.

The Board of Health was authorized to contract for the cutting of weeds during the strike between the highway department employees and the appropriation for the Board of Health was increased from $200 to $1,000 to finance such services.

The rabies control department allocation was increased from $2,000 to $3,000. The provision for contingencies, which is retained at about 5 per cent of the total budget, was due to the increases in other categories.

The township's attorney ruled convention expenses should not be taken from the general fund as it has been done in past years. Due to the opinion, the board voted to add a separate appropriation for convention expenses of $2,500.

A general assistance fund budget of $81,360 was approved without change from the tentative document, as were a $10,700 revenue sharing budget and an $8,500 budget for the Illinois Municipal Retirement Fund.

Board members indicated the tentative budget, which provided minimum funding in all categories would cause drastic reductions in many township programs. A decrease in the town levy also would cause a decrease in the amount of federal revenue sharing the township would receive.

After lengthy discussion, the board voted to continue to pay bills using a bill list, rather than individual vouchers. Whitstell said he felt the bills should be voted on separately, but the attorney ruled that it could be used, except where there was disagreement among the auditors on one or more bills, in which case the vouchers should be used.

The board voted to pay bills for $900 to two attorneys contracted by Albert Bell, highway commissioner, for assistance in preparing a tentative agreement with the striking highway workers.

Whitstell previously requested a legal opinion before agreeing to pay the bills, since the township attorney had not participated in preparing the tentative agreement.

The township attorney ruled the bills legally could be paid and Whitstell said he disagreed, but would vote in favor of payment of the bills. The board voted unanimously to approve them.

The resignation of Township Rabies Control Officer Robert Ristner was read. Ristner also served as a trustee for the township. A meeting of the Board of Health was called for after last night's meeting, but the board did not have a quorum to act on the resolution.

The audience was told that the board will meet in special session Saturday with the architect and contractor for remodeling and expansion of the town hall. Some changes were discussed which may reduce the estimated cost of the program.

The architect and contractor are to consider the changes recommended and prepare new cost estimates to be presented to the board at a later date.

MR. AND MRS. HERBERT OUSLEY JR., whose wedding took place at Tri-City Park Tabernacle. The bride is the former Miss Marjorie Jones, a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Kit W. Jones.

Marjorie Jones becomes Mrs. Herbert Ousley Jr.

Wedding vows were exchanged by Miss Marjorie Jones and Herbert E. Ousley Jr. in a double ring ceremony on June 18 at Tri-City Park Tabernacle. The Rev. John Polizzi officiated.

Nuptial selection played by the church organist included "Wedding Song," "Love Story," and "One Hand, One Heart."

The bride is a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Kit W. Jones. Parents of the groom, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Ousley, reside at 1727 Fifth St., Madison.

For her wedding, the former Miss Jones chose an organza gown made with an Empire bodice with Chantilly lace forming a delicate effect on the skirt. The high collar was also accented with lace.

Matching lace created the cuffs of the long, full sleeves and the skirt was enhanced with tiny motifs that were repeated around the hemline.

She wore a quantilla veil of scalloped lace, and she carried a bouquet of daisy pom poms, baby breath and greenery festooned with white satin streamers.

Miss Darlene Black, a niece of the bride, served as honor attendant. She wore a floor length gown of chiffon taffeta. The fitted bodice was embroidered lace down the front. The sleeves were long and full and the skirt was gathered.

The high neckline was creased with tiny ruffles and a nose tip veil was secured with a crown headpiece etched with sequins. Her bouquet was an arrangement of yellow and white daisies.

Mike Hoffman attended the groom as best man.

A reception for guests was held in the church fellowship hall immediately after the service.

Mr. Ousley, mother of the groom, was attired in a double knit gown, floor length, made in A-line style with a round neckline and short sleeves.

She wore a corsage of carnations.

A graduate of Carlsbad High School, the bride now is employed in the offices of Blue Cross-Blue Shield in St. Louis.

The groom attended Madison schools and is employed in Granite City. They are residing at 1727 Fifth St., Madison.

Seeks 'Miss Black' title

Miss Rena Watkins, 18-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Watkins, 301 Hill St., Eagle Park, will compete for the title of Miss Black in the Southern District Beauty Contest on Saturday at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

A sophomore student at SIUE, Miss. Watkins was crowned Newport Homecoming Queen last September.

The winner of Saturday's competition will advance to the Miss Black Illinois contest in Chicago in June, with an all-expense paid trip.

Awards for the top honor will include a four-year scholarship to SIUE and one-year training program at the Powell Model Agency in Clayton, Mo.

On Dean's List

Nancy Riggs, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Pat Rigs, 3008 Ramona Drive, has been placed on the Dean's Honor List for the spring semester at Belleville Area College.

Gypsy caravan aids Symphony

Mr. and Mrs. Vasil Eftimoff, 2300 Michigan Ave., were directors in the Gypsy Caravan held Monday benefit for St. Louis Symphony Orchestra.

Eftimoff was in charge of parking the 480 dealers representing 20 states who came to exhibit at the largest flea market in the Midwest.

On Sunday, snow fencing was strung on the parking lots to divide display areas from general parking.

Dealers—some of whom began to purchase space for this year's Gypsy Caravan the day after last year's started arriving at 3:30 a.m. to set up their displays. Dealer space had been sold out for over six weeks and was assigned on a first come, first served basis.

Patron admissions to the flea market and fees for dealer parking space are the means of earning money for the orchestra. Last year's caravans netted $30,000 for the orchestra.

Mr. Eftimoff is the current membership chairman for the Women's Association of the St. Louis Symphony.

Robbery trial due for boy, 12

A 12-year-old boy who ran away Friday evening from the Madison County Detention Home in Edwardsville and was apprehended Saturday night by SIUE security officers at the outdoor performing arts facility was returned to his home.

He is being held for trial on charges of armed robbery, attempted murder and burglary in connection with a holdup in Edwardsville March 13.

SIU officers took into custody two other persons near the outdoor performing arts facility. William Giese, 19, of Edwardsville, was charged with using a gun in a robbery. Officers said he was being questioned in connection with an incident involving a female juvenile, and a blackjack was discovered in his car.

The discovery was made after Giese, allegedly, attempted to escape and was apprehended a second time. The girl was released without charges.

SEVEN REASONS FOR GROUND BEEF

Ground beef can be the protein of many hot dishes. Lasagna is an Italian dish using ground beef that is enjoyed by the entire family. It is interesting to note the complete nutrition afforded by this dish. It contains meat and cheese for protein and grains and vegetables for carbohydrates and the B Vitamins; the tomato sauce is rich in Vitamin C, and contains some Vitamin A.

Here's my secret:

LASAGNA

1½ boxes of enriched Lasagna noodles
½ cup salad oil
1 lb. ground beef
2 cups tomato sauce
½ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon pepper
½ teaspoon oregano
2 cups cream cottage cheese
½ cup parmesan cheese
1 lb. mozzarella cheese

Mozzarella cheese
Cook noodles, drain and brush with salad oil. Brown the ground beef over medium heat, adding salt, pepper and oregano. Combine the cottage cheese and sour cream. Arrange half the noodles in the bottom of a baking dish. Spread with a layer of cheese sauce and add a layer of mozzarella cheese on top of this layer. Repeat the layers of noodles, cheese sauce, cottage cheese and mozzarella cheese. Bake at 350 degrees for approximately 35 minutes. Serves six.

If you have any questions concerning this recipe you can write to me and I will reply. Please address your letters to Ann Crowley, Schnuck Markets, Inc., P.O. Box 929, Bridgeton, Mo. 63044.

Miss Jean Marie Richardson was honored last week at a bridal shower given by her aunt, Mrs. Frances Alessandrelli, and her bridesmaids, Mrs. Fran Slater, Mrs. Regine Wigger, Miss Carol Chapman and Miss Linda Hoffman.

The shower was held at the Nameoki Recreation Center, where decorations in yellow, pink, green and blue reflected the color scheme of the wedding party.

The honoree received many gifts. After the packages were opened, the hostesses directed games and awarded prizes. Among the awards were small sparkling cans filled with fresh garden flowers.

A buffet luncheon was served to about 60 guests. Miss Richardson is a daughter of Mrs. Josephine Richardson, 2912 Iowa St. She will be married in June at the Jesus Catholic Church of Mark McKinney, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bob McKinney of Mexico, Mo., formerly of Granite City.

Business Women plan civic programs

Good civic programs and increasing public awareness of the club's purposes are among the goals to be achieved this year by the Granite City Business and Professional Women's Club. Miss Amelien Smith, president, informed members of the program during a meeting at a hotel in Collinsville this week.

Mrs. Sylvia Wright, chairman, was in charge of the business session and reviewed the National BPW theme "Help Others More in '74." She pointed out the program presents "an opportunity to investigate some of the options open to women and to help women to know themselves and what they are doing."

Mrs. Smith advocated continued support of the scholarship and Young Career Woman's programs and also efforts to assist women in the area of financial opportunities.

Specifically investigating money "Help Others More in '74" was adopted as the club slogan which stipulates that each BPW member donate one hour's time to aiding worthy civic or charitable organizations.

Skilled performance in accountability session here by governor who bases his appeal on quick response to whatever issues worry the 'average man'

Governor Dan Walker made an impressive appearance in his 23rd "accountability session," a public meeting at Granite City High School North attended by 300 residents of the southwestern area of the state.

It is not easy to handle diverse questions from a cross-section of the public in widely separated locations of such a large and complex state as Illinois.

Even with advance briefing on the topics of current interest in a particular region, and with avoidance of topics outside of his jurisdiction, a less-skilled speaker and administrator could have hurt rather than enhanced his image as a diligent and forthright defender of "the common man."

An attorney and former official of a major corporation, "walking Dan" Walker is adept at fielding both fair and "loaded" questions from audiences containing both friendly and unfriendly constituents.

He was in good form last week, much like his performance during the 1972 campaign at Pontoon Beach, where he also invited questions from a large gathering.

His most surprising response at North High was that he is unfamiliar with the hillside drainage proposal which has been a local, regional, state and national topic for a generation, and which is the subject of current intensive study by the Illinois Division of Waterways and Army Corps of Engineers.

A few of his replies could be called overly simplistic despite the obvious time limitations of the occasion.

For example he rejected criticism of state school aid "cuts" by citing a net increase in such funding; no mention was made of the impact of inflation on local education budgets, nor of the fact that the governor is pushing for non-adherence to the agreed-upon aid formula on which public school systems have based their financial commitments.

Perhaps fault also could be found with his defense of hiring out-of-state residents for lavish salaries other states cannot match. "What's the big deal, anyway?" he asked in minimizing the number of such appointees and in properly pointing out that ability to perform should be the primary factor in hiring.

Despite his reply, some are con-

Many here pray for people of Israel

To the Editor:
Regarding the writer of the May 20 letter, "Brutal atrocities by Arab terrorists," I read his poignant letter and I have deep feelings for any human being, regardless of race, color or creed.

It is such a waste—the savage death of children, women and men who have struggled only to return to their homeland.

We are all guilty of the tragic blood flowing in his veins from ancestors of many generations.

He is a gentle man and doesn't condone what Hitler's crazed Nazis did to the Jewish, Polish and other people during World War II.

I have Irish-Scotch and English roots and my mother's mother gave five sons during World War I fighting for England.

My mother gave four sons in helping to save the tortured peoples of the world during World War II.

We gave a son during the Vietnam war for the same reasons— for people oppressed by dictatorships.

Jews want Israel and want it bad, even though it wasn't theirs any longer. So a nation has sprung up between old and new neighbors, and we in the U.S. are aiding the new.

We lost two fine men because of Old World hatreds between races.

Education and understanding has come late to many. We in the U.S. had our problems and still have some to resolve. There are hundreds of years of slavery to make up for.

Jews have thousands of years to span the hatred that built up. It's now somewhat like the settling of the West. How many innocent people were slaughtered by Indians?

It is now the "bad guy" when you speak of Indians and what hasn't been right for them?

I'm not trying to make Jewish people feel their hurt at the injustices done to those poor souls, but just to let them see that in the settling of any country there are always the needless deaths.

$300,000 will be spent on the improvements this year, and another $100,000 next year. It is hoped that the horse track will be completed in time for the opening of the new football stadium in the fall. The total cost will be $1,700,000 feet and there will be a huge grandstand seating 15,000.

Less than three days after a tornado struck the Wabash River area, members of the Egyptian Radio Club here were at the scene with their mobile sending and receiving equipment and communications and issue calls for assistance and supplies. J. H. Adamson, Mobile Emergency Corps commander, said all telephone and telegraph links had been knocked out and all stationary radios were dead because of the disruption of electrical power. Mobile radios in cars of the local Red Cross and the Red Cross were the only means of communication initially, and those participating were highly commended by Coast Guard units sent to the scene.

Norton Kay molds the Walker image charged with public relations responsibilities.

By RAND T. THOMAS

SPRINGFIELD — When Gov. Daniel Walker gets up in the morning, one of the first things he does is read the newspaper. And what he reads about him is the product of Norton Kay.

Kay, a soft spoken, intelligent veteran Chicago political reporter, is Walker's press secretary and chief media policy adviser.

In his most gubernatorial campaign, it was his job to publicize and shape the image of candidate Walker as a swashbuckling maverick out to trample the Democratic machine in Chicago Mayor Richard Daley with a herd of clean white horses.

He did a good job. Walker was elected.

It is now Kay's responsibility to manage the image of Gov. Walker.

In 1973 he turned out 300 press releases for the news media. He also fields questions from openly hostile reporters and friends assume the role of official administration spokesman — a role which often carries him into controversy.

But above all it is Kay's job to get the governor's name in print on network television as frequently as possible and in a manner most favorable to the sensitive public.

For this he receives $50,000. Mark Clark earns $20,000 a year.

Few would dispute the administration's almost uncanny ability to get good publicity in the media on a nearly daily basis. Yet Kay denies that Walker's press operation was more sophisticated than his predecessor's, Republican Gov. Richard Ogilvie. If anything, Kay says, Ogilvie's press operation was more sophisticated.

And he maintains that Walker spends less on public relations, puts out fewer handouts for newsmen and employs fewer persons to clean up the space.

Peer through thick black-framed glasses, he continues:

"Reporters are supposed to write about what the governor is doing. And there is no way he is not going to make the papers unless he locks himself in there."

"It's the level of activity — not the effectiveness of our PR operation. If we don't publicize the news and a reporter finds out about it, the story comes out. It was learned to date. And that implies secrecy."

Perhaps the biggest point of contention among the administration and the media, occurred over the creation of the Illinois state budget last year. The 500-plus page document was dumped on reporters' desks only minutes before deadline time. An accusation was made that it was deliberately misleading.

Yet there was little time to scrutinize and study the budget or the speech writing about it.

Kay admits that he may have bungled the presentation. And in an apparent effort to shore up relations, this year's budget was presented piece-by-piece in a winding series of briefings.

Kay said there is no set policy on monitoring the success of the press operation or the complaints again because of the unprecedented amount of publicity the governor received.

"I was dumbfounded," Kay said. "I never thought of it in terms of publicity for anyone. I thought of it in terms of reporters."

Since assuming the press secretary post, Kay has gained a reputation among the regular staff as a reporter's ally, an overly sensitive and critical of stories that do not speak kindly of his boss.

He often calls reporters to complain about bias and factual errors. He has been known to phone reporters in an attempt to have early edition stories toned down a bit.

Kay defends the practice as an attempt "to present our side of a story whether it's right or not."

Through the administration contracts privately for an experimental television news monitoring service, Kay said his Chicago office records news shows that air on the news.

Dunn said press releases provide a very important public service. He noted that in 1972 under Ogilvie, the IIS put out 2,000 news releases in a total of 2,404. The 1973 total under Walker was 1,462.

But the print media is not Dunn's area of expertise. He is a radio and television reporter and television director of staff.

A little-known former television newsman named Jim Dunn has the responsibility for getting the governor's and Illinois' story told on radio and television. Dunn is director of the Illinois Information Service (IIS), the chief public relations arm of state government.

Dunn's background covers a long history of working for such candidates as Robert Kennedy of New York (for president), John Tunney of California (for senator), Richard Oettinger of New York (for governor), Howard Metzenbaum of Ohio (for senator) and Pierre Salinger of California (for senator).

Like Walker, all had exceptional political careers.

Dunn added: Before he was hired, at $27,000 a year as head of the Information Service

The press releases were a constant source of controversy under the administration of former Gov. Richard Ogilvie.

Because of a policy to use the ice, he handled the electronic media (radio and television) in the campaign of Walker, then a relatively obscure lawyer from Deerfield.

The Information Service, under the control of the Department of General Services, providing a number of different services, including the printing of all press releases about state government, and a wealth of material for broadcast over radio and television stations.

In 1973, the IIS staff, which currently totals 31, wrote 1,462 press releases and distributed them to reporters, editors and private organizations throughout the state.

For the total, 390 were strictly for the governor's office and 2,000 for the governor's office.

The others were written by various agency public relations men, and edited by the IIS staff before printing.

The average news release contains about two pounds of press releases from IIS weekly, complete in story form. Many are used but many are not.

Not including the man hours involved in writing up press releases, Dunn estimates that paper cost a total of $7,000 and postage another $14,000 in 1973.

Food reserves would be costly to all

To the Editor:

As the U.S. and Canada can see that the world's food reserves—a by-product of price support programs that channel surplus farm products into government ownership of began to pall, and increased demands for food resulted from higher incomes in the hands of more people.

Add to that drought, crop failures and reduced production in widely dispersed areas of the world.

Other countries were able to keep their surplus under control by pricing their products in the international market just under the price that the U.S. government paid for its food.

The U.S. Commodity Credit Corp. carried the responsibility and the U.S. taxpayers carried the cost.

Two years ago, events converged to bring about a first in modern times: a real concern about food supplies.

Devaluation of the dollar made American farm products much more attractive in foreign markets. Worldwide inflation risen on future markets. Politics and government officials seem unable to resist the temptation to use reserves to manipulate the market, either when acquisitions are made or when getting rid of them.

It is equally unfair to expect farmers to produce in excess of projected annual needs and then be penalized by the depressed prices which government-held stocks bring.

Food production in the U.S. is too efficient and diversified to imagine that the so-called food reserves will not do more harm than good.

The food reserve proposals that have been advanced involve government-dictated production incentives costly to the taxpayer and the farmer alike.

Local news welcome sight overseas

To the Editor:

We have often read in letters to the editor how much it means to get the hometown newspaper sent to another city or country. We found it just returned from a visit with our son-in-law and daughter, CWO and Mrs. Jeff Swickard, in Hanau, Germany.

When the first Press-Record came, it was really something to read.

The towns we saw were so clean—flowers blooming in

Board should provide dog sterilization

To the Editor:

One of the County Board's objections to providing a low-cost sterilization service is that the members claim "it is not necessary for people to do such things—luxury."

Here are my questions. Is it necessary for the county to subsidize insurance companies collecting premiums for insured livestock? Why can't insurance companies sacrifice like dog owners?

Isn't owning peacocks a personal privilege and responsibility? Who must the owner pay for pets such as peacocks which are not used for poultry?

Certainly, the loss was a tragedy. Yet, the county doesn't pay for other pets killed by Mother Nature's harsh fires, floods, winds, etc.

Peering through thick black-framed glasses, he continues:

"Reporters are supposed to write about what the governor is doing. And there is no way he is not going to make the papers unless he locks himself in there."

"It's the level of activity — not the effectiveness of our PR operation. If we don't publicize the news and a reporter finds out about it, the story comes out. That is learned to date. And that implies secrecy."

Kay conceded that many Statehouse offices the governor's press secretary had some interesting comments on the matter. He was perched comfortably on an office chair, leaning back on his swivel desk. His shirt collar was unbuttoned, his tie loosened, and a perpetual cigarette was hanging from the corner of his mouth.

"It is not a reporter's job to write headlines or determine how much space a story will get," he declared. "Their job is to print what's going on in state government. Anybody has the option of not writing a story. Newspapers don't buy the space."

Yet the number of reporters complained again because of the unprecedented amount of publicity the governor received.

"I was dumbfounded," Kay said. "I never thought of it in terms of publicity for anyone. I thought of it in terms of reporters."

Since assuming the press secretary post, Kay has gained a reputation among the regular staff as a reporter's ally, an overly sensitive and critical of stories that do not speak kindly of his boss.

TV work like ours," Dunn said.

He points out that a relatively new process is available which involves conversion of video tape into film, which is more convenient to distribute as well as easier to use.

Stations that don't want the IIS material subscribe to one of two private radio spot news and feature services. They cost money, but the news is provided in a much more balanced format.

Radio and television stations are not charged for any services provided by IIS, though they are asked to return tapes and cassettes after their use.

Student representatives of 40 high schools in 8 counties convened recently at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville to draft recommendations for "progress in matters of major social interest."

The conference was co-sponsored by the East St. Louis regional office of the Illinois Department of Corrections and the Delinquency Study Center at SIUE.

The regional conference was preceded by workshops for students in the individual counties, and it will be followed by a state conference this summer in Springfield, with student delegates from five regions.

The purpose of the conferences is to give students opportunities to express their resourcefulness and leadership without being inhibited by adults, according to Lee Ostrand, East St. Louis, an officer of the regional correctional program for juveniles sponsored by the Department of Corrections.

The topics for the regional workshops were selected by the students themselves, with nearly 30 subjects under the general headings of "school, community, sex, drugs and interpersonal relations."

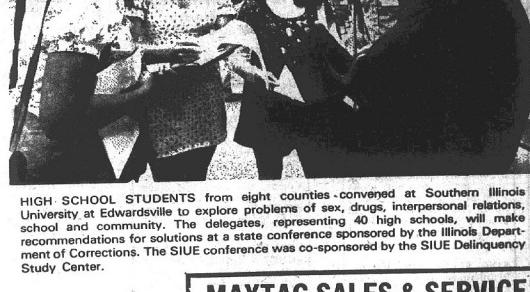

Final recommendations will be developed at the state conference and will be published and distributed to state agencies, legislators, schools, churches, city councils, law enforcement agencies, and other groups designated by the student delegates.

Stephen Kossmann, Springfield, a consultant and coordinator of youth conferences for the Department of Corrections, said the project is "an exercise in citizenship... an opportunity for high school age youngsters to identify problems and to help work on solutions without the inhibition of adults."

Countries represented at the SIUE conference included St. Clair, Madison, Bond, Jersey, Clinton, Washington, Monroe and Randolph. Area workshops were held at Steeleville, Columbia, McKendree College, Breese, Edwardsville, Lewis and Clark Community College, and Shrine of Our Lady of The Snows, Belleville.

Adult advisers have stayed in the background,

Tax bills completed

Township tax collectors in the Quad-City area will mail tax bills this week and expect to begin local tax collections early next week.

Local collections are planned this year by town collectors of Granite City, Venice, Nameoki and Chouteau Township. The effort involved distribution of tax funds to the taxing bodies, most of which are short of funds and depend upon tax revenue to meet operating costs.

Tax bills were completed last week by a Dayton, Ohio, computer firm and delivered to County Treasurer George Muzzo who, in turn, delivered the bills to town collectors. The bills are about a month earlier this year than they were in 1973.

Paul Rulledge, city treasurer of Granite City, said tax bills may be paid to any of the three Granite City banks, or they may be sent by mail to the treasurer's office at the City Hall, 401 Madison Ave. No over-the-counter payments will be accepted at his office.

Nameoki Township bills may be paid at the Granite City

Trust & Savings Bank during regular banking hours, and Venice township taxpayers may pay bills at the township tax office in the old bank building at 401 Madison Ave.

Charles Lexow, Chouteau town collector, will accept payments at the office in his home, or at collection sites which he will announce later.

BOOK BY FORMER GRANITE CITYAN Mrs. Noland B. Seil admires book about her late publisher husband written by Robert G. Hays (right). At left is her son, Bill Seil, who took over the Grayville (Ill.) Mercury-Independent after his father's death. Hays, a doctoral student in journalism and government at Southern Illinois University at Carbondale, outlines Seil's years as a professional journalist in a study of the newspaper from 1919 through 1968.

The book, "Country Editor," looks at Grayville, its history, and the challenges faced by the late publisher during that period. Hays, a former Press-Record news reporter, himself was reared near Carmi. Seil was posthumously honored as a "master editor" by the SIUE School of Journalism; his paper received numerous awards and his editorials were widely reprinted. The book publisher, Interstate Printers & Publishers, Danville, Ill., has issued it for $3 in paperback form.

DENNIS RIGGS EARNS
DEAN'S LIST HONORS

Dennis Riggs, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Riggs, 202 Lindell Blvd., received an associate degree in business marketing magna cum laude from Lewis and Clark Community College, Godfrey, on May 21.

The Granite City student also was named to the Dean's List for the second time. He is planning to continue his education at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville this fall.

Niedringhaus Avenue and Memorial Park.

Members of Tent 90, Servicemen of Union Veterans, placed a wreath on the monument on the Granite City Hall lawn in a ceremony at 9 a.m. today.

Final Memorial Day activities conducted

Two major patriotic services and the closing of schools and city and state offices marked the Quad-City area's second observance of the Memorial holiday today.

The annual observance is divided this year between May 27 and May 30 because of conflicting federal and state laws specifying the holiday dates.

Quad-City stores, post-offices, banks and other financial institutions closed Monday in observance of the holiday.

Public and parochial schools still in session observed the holiday today, as did city offices in Granite City, Madison and the Illinois

State Employment Service, the Work Incentive office and the unemployment compensation office will be closed Monday through Friday, as will the driver's license examining office, to give employees a four-day holiday.

The annual Parade of Flags ceremony sponsored by the Disabled American Veterans Association was conducted at 10 a.m. today in Memorial Park, 21st Street and Madison Avenue, across from St. Elizabeth Hospital, according to Mrs. Lena Kalips, committee chairwoman.

The parade formed at the DAV Hall, 141 Nineteenth Street, and moved east to Grand Avenue, and north on Grand to Endorse move to obtain transatlantic flights

The St. Louis Metropolitan Area Airport Authority has approved a resolution endorsing efforts to have St. Louis one of the U.S. cities being considered by the Civil Aeronautics Board to provide direct, non-stop flights to Europe.

The Civil Aeronautics Board is holding transatlantic route proceedings to determine the feasibility of direct flights to Europe from inland airports, including St. Louis.

The St. Louis effort is being sponsored by the Regional Commerce and Growth Association and the City of St. Louis and St. Louis.

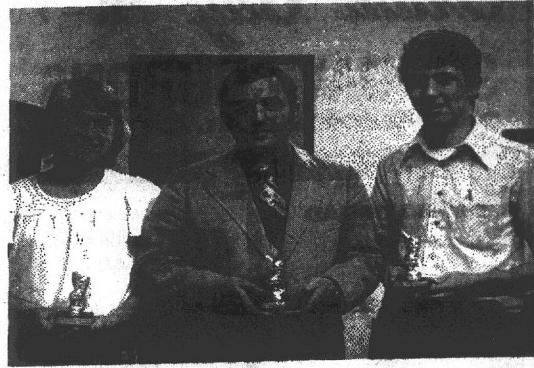

Approval for transatlantic flights could apply to a new Illinois or Missouri major airport or to the existing Lambert-St. Louis International Airport.

St. Louis Metropolitan Area Airport Authority is supporting an Illinois airport site.

The board also heard a statement from the Illinois Mississippian Interstate Airport Construction Task Force (IMPACT) supporting an Illinois site near Columbia and Waterloo for construction of a new major bi-state jetport.

at North

Changes in the construction of the new gymnasium at Granite City High School will be completed with specifications will be completed no later than Aug. 1 by the contractors, Tully A. Heubner, director of buildings and grounds, has reported to the Granite City Board of Education.

He announced work will begin June 10 when contractors are to be on the job to inspect the roof and make any repairs necessary. The overall problems will be studied by Al Crawford, a St. Louis consultant.

The work will include installation of heat shields between heaters and insulation, air blowers installed in windows to provide air for the exhaust system, and repair and replacement of insulation necessary to provide a proper vapor barrier. A floor contractor is to inspect the floor for the need of repair.

Resignations were accepted by the board from Angie Hutton of Emerson School; Emma Rose Webster School; Myra Blades pre-school, and Louis Meier, school consultant, who plan to retire at the end of the school year.

Teachers hired effective Aug. 23 include William D. Novinger, Paul Bowler and Donna Boudet.

Novinger, 2714C Center St., with 17 years experience, and Mrs. Bowler, 1619 Pontoon Road, will instruct socially maladjusted at GCHS; North and Mrs. Boudet, Maryville, will teach South High home economics.

Leave of absence was granted to Jane Isenborg, English teacher at Granite City High School North.

Joe Fedora, director of athletics, suggested to the board that the position of assistant athletic trainer be eliminated for the 1974-75 school year because of the resignation of Stan Wojciech, Assistant Coach. Oriental band seeks repeat championship

The Ainaid Shrine Temple Oriental Band will depart this week for Terre Haute, Ind., where it will participate in the annual Shrine Bands Jamboree. The association is made up of 22 Shrine temples in Illinois, Wisconsin, Ohio and Michigan and Ontario, Canada.

The local group received third-place award last year when the event was hosted by Tabala Shrine Temple in Rockford.

The local group received third-place in 1972 and second place in 1971. The band competes in 1972 due to the jamboree date conflicting with the Ainaid Shrine circus.

The competition will be in two parts, including a marching segment and a concert on the stage. Winners will be announced and trophies presented Saturday evening during the awards ceremony.

The association is made up of 22 Shrine temples in Illinois, Wisconsin, Ohio and Michigan and Ontario, Canada.

Ainaid Potentate Charles G. Chenoweth of Belleville will accompany the group to represent the officers Divan. The Oriental group will perform here Sunday in time to perform the annual K of C Shrine dinner to be held at St. Elizabeth Church in Granite City.

Sausage from the "best of the bog" will be the meat of the day for the annual Granite City Knights of Columbus-Tri-City Shrine Club charity dinner Sunday at the St. Elizabeth Church grounds, 2300 Pontoon Road in Granite City.

The fourth annual affair gives half of the money raised for the retarded program of the K of C, while the other half of the profit is used by the Shrine Club to further its charitable work and from the Shrine Burns Center in Cincinnati, Ohio. This Burns Travel Fund uses about $10,000 per year and most of this is raised by the many K of C Shrine dinners throughout Southern Illinois.

The dinner has been in the planning for more than six months in which the committee decided to change to the outdoor dinner. Chicken and pork steaks were getting to be old hat, and the advent of a better sausage made the two groups decide that the best groups decide that the best sausage, according to General Chairmen James Stack Jr. of the Granite Knights of Columbus and Warren Decatur of the Tri-City Shrine Club. They have named most of the committee chairmen and have arranged for a prize award.

Food arrangements are being handled by Steve Sallitch Sr. and Marty Lovell. Services are handled by Jim DeBuny, Fred Boller, Wayne Banks and Dr. J. R. Vastoff, Grand Knight of the K of C.

Entertainment will be furnished by Steve Sallitch Jr. and the Nobilemen. They will be performing during the afternoon, with the Nobilemen finishing up the evening.

Area entertainers also will perform during the afternoon, and one of the groups will be the Flood precautions taken by Corps of Engineers district

The St. Louis District, U.S. Army Corps of Engineers, began flood fight operations last week after predictions of a St. Louis river crest of several feet over the flood stage of 40 feet.

The Corps sent members of the flood emergency team into locations around the district. They anticipated no severe flooding, but had several areas of concern.

At Ebberry, a flood center was established to provide a technical and logistic support for levee districts.

Minor flooding was expected in the West Alton and Columbia Bottoms areas and Corps flood fighters launched operations on a substantial scale in those areas.

River Des Peres, a contract was issued for construction of the levees in low-lying areas to guard homes against a flood of up to 40 feet.

The Corps determined that all possible precautions were being taken by the City of St. Louis, St. Louis County and the Metropolitan Sewer District to avoid a repeat of the disastrous flooding of 1973 on the River Des Peres area.

South St. Louis, other areas under careful surveillance have been Ste. Genevieve, Mo., speeds in an attempt to avoid damaging protective structures along the shoreline.

Closures were made in the St. Louis floodwall and all flood fight personnel were alerted.

Reports showed the Illinois River in flood stage and the upper Mississippi and Missouri Rivers in flood at various points along their courses.

Notices to navigation were issued to slow river traffic

St. Mary Church scene of Lusicic-Bilick nuptials

Miss Linda Ann Bilick, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Bilick, 1717 N. Elizabeth St., Madison, and Daniel James Lusicic, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Lusicic, 7711 Elton St., St. Louis, were united in marriage on April 29 at St. Mary's Catholic Church in Madison.

Officiating at the double ring nuptial high mass at 2 o'clock in the afternoon was the Rev. Sylvester Mielek, O.F.M. Server boys were Mark Zarr and John Melaski, both of the bride's church.

Miss Helen McGroshen, organist, accompanied Mrs. Eleanor Eaves, the groom's aunt, as she sang "Wedding Prayer," "Ave Maria" and "Hail Mary."

Laurel wreaths, holding arrangements of white mums, decorated the altar and burning tapers in hurricane lamps illuminated the middle aisle.

Given in marriage by the bride's parents, the bride chose a Chantilly lace gown made in the Empire silhouette and fashioned with a high neckline and long Renaissance sleeves, trimmed with white satin bows. White satin ribbon encircled the waist.

Don LoGrasso attended the groom as best man.

John Bilick, a brother of the bride, Mike Lusicic, the groom's brother, Cliff Childs, Rick Rusborsky, completed the corps of groomsmen.

Barbara Lofaro, a cousin of the bride, was the ring bearer.

Mrs. Linda Bilick, mother of the bride, wore an orchid peau de soie gown made with a scoop neckline accented with pearls and bugle beads. The cap sleeves were designed in matching jewel trim.

The groom's mother, Mrs. Lusicic, selected a powder blue crepe dress, four-tiered. A white belt cinched the round neckline and the frock was enhanced with a square jeweled buckle at the waist. Both mothers wore orchid corsages.

A reception was held at the Croatian Hall in Madison and the wedding dinner was hosted by the groom's parents in their home.

The bride is a 1972 graduate of Granite City High School. Her husband is a graduate of Christian Brothers College and graduated from South County Technical School. He is employed at National Food Store in Manchester, Mo.

Planning a wedding trip to Tan-Par-A in the Lake of the Ozarks, the newlyweds are residing in St. Louis.

Births, deaths rise in rate

The number of births, deaths and marriages in Madison County were higher in April 1974 than in the same month of 1973, according to a vital statistics report released by County Clerk Eddie H. Hargrove.

Births last month totaled 254, up from 240 last year. Included this year were 132 boys and 122 girls. One set of twins was reported in April as compared to two sets in the same month of the previous year.

Deaths increased from 166 in April, 1973, to 181 last month.

Marriages increased only slightly, from 207 during April 1973, to 208 the same month this year.

Ask the Governor

Q. What state agency regulates noise pollution and where can I send a complaint?

A. Noise pollution is the emission of sound that unreasonably interferes with the enjoyment of life, lawful business or activity as defined in the state Noise Pollution Control Regulation.

Before April 1973, noise complaints were only handled by local officials under the public assistance law. Now the Illinois Environmental Protection Agency's Division of Noise Pollution Control has the authority to investigate complaints, measure noise levels, notify owners of the source and institute legal proceedings when a violator fails to comply with regulations.

About 40 percent of the violators comply with requirements by EPA. Some problems can be solved simply, as in a recent case where a switch engine was moved a few yards. Others are complex and expensive. The two most common complaints after 1) noise from vehicles on highways and 2) aeration and cooling of grain in grain elevators.

The EPA has set maximum permissible noise levels by law. The Illinois EPA is the first governmental body to establish limitations by land use categories, rather than by zoning patterns. The advantages of land use categories can be seen in the case of hotel and motel. While a hotel might be zoned "commercial," the people who sleep there should be entitled to similar protection from noise as is provided home-dwellers.

It is use under Class A includes household units, hotels, mobile home parks, houses of worship, correctional institutions, libraries and forest preserves. Land use under Class B includes wholesale and retail trade, business, professional, educational and governmental services; and recreation areas. Class C land use includes industries, manufacturing plants, railroads, motor vehicles, utilities, race tracks and agricultural related activities.

Sound is measured in decibels (dB). Class C land is allowed to emit more noise than class B or A. Class C may emit more noise to another class C than to B or A. The strictest limits are on noise emitted to Class A land, during nighttime.

Current state regulations concern stationary sources. But regulations for vehicular noise, airports and construction operations are being developed. The federal government is proposing regulations on railroads, aircraft and new trucks, before the year's end.

Noise is a byproduct of our industrial society and has been increasing at an average of one dB each year over the last 25 years. It is difficult to escape. It can cause anger and depression. And it can have physical repercussions. It can cause a tension of the body and a contracting of blood vessels; a release of excess adrenaline into the system and a speeding up of heartbeat. It can impair or destroy a person's hearing.

Comments such as a loud lawn mower and a squeaky air conditioner should be worked out among neighbors or reported to local authorities. More serious incidents of noise pollution should be directed to James Reid, Division of Noise Pollution Control, 2200 Churchill Rd., Springfield, Ill. (telephone: 217-786-6758).

Several options on way Social Security benefits are utilized

Increases in Social Security benefits, now tied to the cost of living, plus Congressional action to strengthen and protect private pension plans have improved the outlook for elderly men and women.

But the improvements, relatively few elderly people are so well fixed financially that they do not have to water their pennies.

To help them, the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants has assigned a panel of CPAs to compile the various benefits and options available to persons of retirement age.

The panel's findings, assembled with the cooperation of federal agencies, point out that the biggest single contributor to the average senior citizen's income is Social Security.

Most men and women past working age, the monthly Social Security check goes a long way toward helping keep body and soul together.

You don't have to wait until you are 65 to begin drawing Social Security benefits. You can apply as early as age 62, in which case the benefits will be less because of the extension of time over which they will be paid.

Early retirement is advantageous up to a point, the point being age 77; that's when the benefits received by the person who retires at age 65 catch up with and pass ahead of those who retire at age 70.

Conversely, if instead of retiring early you continue working beyond 65, your ultimate Social Security benefit will increase one cent for each additional year of work up to seven per cent at age 72.

At 72, you begin to collect the full Social Security benefits to which you are entitled, even if you go on working.

Married persons work part-time to supplement diminished incomes. If you work throughout the year, you can draw full Social Security payments after age 72 only if your annual earnings are $2,400 or less.

For every dollar above that, your benefits are reduced by 50 cents. Thus, if you earn $3,000, your earnings are over the limit and Social Security payments are reduced by half that amount, or $300.

If you work only intermittently, the situation is different. Your benefits are decreased only when monthly earnings exceed $200.

Thus, it is possible to earn much more than $2,400 for work performed during part of the year and still receive full benefits for those months in which earnings do not exceed $200 per month.

For the self-employed, also, benefits are reduced only for the months in which they perform "substantial services" — a loosely defined term in each case by the Social Security Administration. This takes into account, among other factors, the number of hours worked.

In no case are benefits reduced if you worked fewer than 15 hours during a month.

If a husband and wife both qualify for Social Security records, both can work past 65 and earn up to $2,400 each without losing any of the benefits.

The Social Security Administration usually will calculate the benefits obtained under each filing method to determine which will yield the highest payment.

Income from pension plans, interest on savings accounts, dividends and the like do not affect Social Security benefits. Only earned income can reduce the benefits.

The system was set up during the Great Depression of the 1930s to encourage people with pensions to draw on them to help support their families.

GCHS North's Rose Brauckmuller, left, and Charlene Garber earned their way to the state track and field finals for girls, held during the weekend at Eastern Illinois University, with top finishes in the Cahokia district meet. Bethel Temple Pentecostal Church whose congregation had held services at its present location, formerly known as the First Church of the Nazarene, made a move since January 1971, will move to a newly purchased church building during the weekend.

The congregation will assist in moving to East 24th and August streets, a building presently occupied by the First Church of the Nazarene.

Pastor Ralph McKinney held the first service of his church on Sunday, Jan. 17, 1971 which was his anniversary wife's 12th wedding anniversary.

Although the original membership was small, the congregation has grown and the new church was purchased for expansion of a program to interest all age levels in the church.

The Rev. McKinney is affiliated and licensed with the Pentecostal Church of God of America with headquarters in Joplin, Mo. The Rev. Dennis Heard is general superintendent and the Rev. A. L. Wunsch served as district superintendent of Illinois.

The first services in the newly-acquired church will begin with Sunday School at 10 a.m. Sunday, followed with worship services at 11 a.m. Evening devotions will be at 7:30 p.m.

A formal dedication date will be announced later, Rev. McKinney reported.

8 days for independents to file for County Board

Attorney General William J. Scott this week opened the legal filing period for independent County Board candidates in counties which combine their county board elections with the general election Nov. 5 this year, including Madison County.

Many counties in Illinois are employing the "combined election" approach to reduce local costs of the election process.

Democratic and Republican nominees for such boards were chosen in March.
